01 June 2022

Dear Veterinary Professional,

The purpose of this letter is to inform end users of the shelf life extension and subsequent new expiration date for Laverdia™-CA1 (verdinexor tablets).

Anivive received approval from the FDA Center for Veterinary Medicine on 08 April 2022 to extend the shelf life (expiration date) of Laverdia™-CA1 (verdinexor tablets) from 24 months to 36 months. As a result, product in your possession may have a longer expiration date than is currently labeled on the bottle and carton.

You can disregard the expiration dates on impacted lots as listed in the product table on page 2 and apply the new expiration date in the final column to any product in your possession.

Anivive is committed to providing you with high quality, safe and effective products for the treatment of pets.

As previously communicated, Anivive Life Sciences, Inc. has entered into a licensing agreement with Dechra Pharmaceuticals PLC for the worldwide rights to Laverdia™-CA1 (verdinexor tablets). Dechra Veterinary Products, LLC is now handling all commercial and customer support matters for Laverdia™-CA1 (verdinexor tablets). If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact them at 1-866-933-2472 or by e-mailing support@dechra.com

Kind Regards,
